CITY INFORMATION

CANNES

This is the playground for Europe's rich and the site of the most prestigious of the world's film festivals. The town is inhabited through the year by the jet set, soaking up the Mediterranean sun and snapping up designer goods at Cannes's most exclusive boutiques. In May, the town goes into superstar overdrive - the world's most famous movie actors, producers and directors descend on this small part of the Riviera to celebrate their success.

Major tourist attraction in Cannes is known worldwide for its stunning beaches, chic culture and off course the annual Cannes International Film Festival. Though known primarily for its beautiful beaches and glamorous culture, Cannes has plenty of other tourist attractions too. Cannes is home to beautiful museums, churches and historical sites, which never fail to impress their visitors.

NICE

The capital of the French Riviera and a glittering jewel of the Côte d'Azur. The warm southern French sun shines down on a sea that is an exquisite shade of blue. The city seems to be exclusively populated by beautiful people. Nice is also a thriving centre in its own right. The fifth largest town in France, it has a rich, joyful character, a healthy mixture of work and play centred on the Place Masséna, the main commercial centre of the city.

Major tourist attractions in Nice include beautiful beaches, great dining, and amazing architecture with lovely art-deco façades. Nice is also known for its world-class museums, which are second only to Paris in numbers. Among must see tourist attractions in Nice include Cours Saleya Flower Market, the Matisse Museum, ancient Roman ruins, the Russian Cathedral and much more to mention here.
